DE LA SALLE HIGH SCHOOL
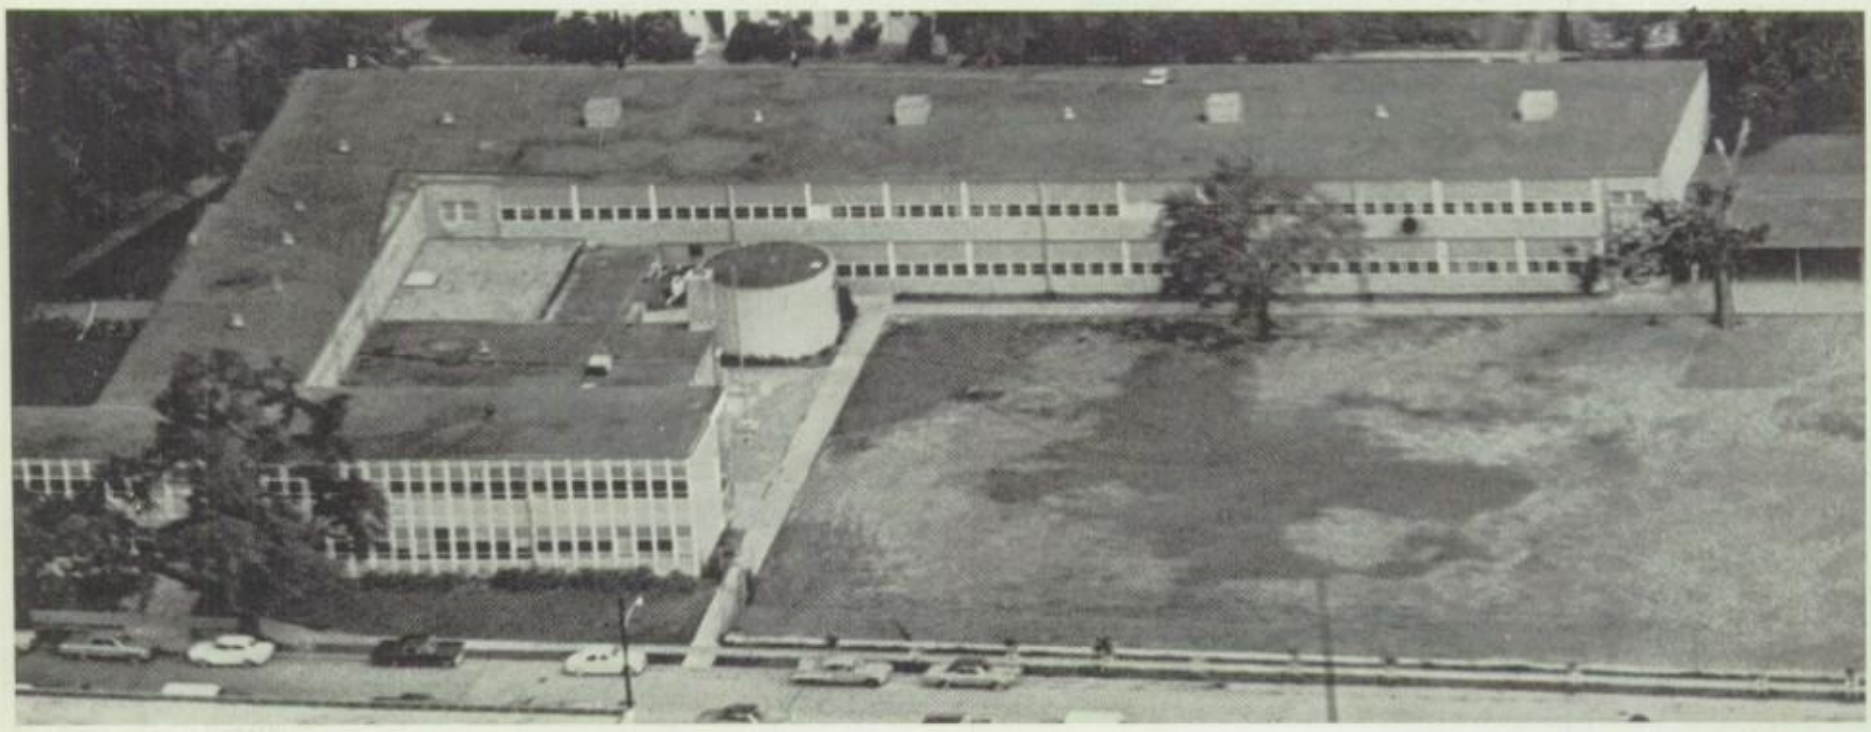
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

FOREWORD

". . . This Was the Year That Was . . ."



"And sing out, De La Salle, lead on!" As the last strains of the Alma Mater died the class of '67 officially became alumni. This, for De La Salle, was the culmination of the year's events. For 1966-67, if not a spectacular, was certainly a very busy year. No matter what his location, an alert Cav would instantly be seized by a whirl of events. At DLS, as well as around the city, country, and even the world, the march of the news never slackened its pace.

Close on the heels of Batman, the Hobbit craze swept the nation. Every teenager held his breath as Snoopy charged the Red Barron, fortified with advice from the "Great Pumpkin". Those that thought that Snoopy's was a dog's life became ardent fans of Monkee life, as the new group came swinging from the lowest branch of nowhere to the top limb of national fame.

Closer to home, the Cavaliers saw several firsts swing into the picture this year, spearheaded by the appearance of SERVICE, the Cavalier news bulletin. The school saw the results of another new literary effort on receiving the first copy of the RAIN BASIN, where hidden artistic talent was unveiled.

New coaches and teachers graced the school image, and a change in the lunch program offered an appeal to various tastes. To top it all, its a sure bet that every Cavalier rejoiced at the advent of the shortened Wednesday schedule.

Traditional institutions, too, improved with another year's experience, as seen in the celebration of Coach Altobello's 500th victory. The Talent Show was again successful, and the homecoming courts were lovelier than ever.

Back on the sporting scene, we saw the football team barely miss going to state, the wrestling team grappling with newfound success on the mats, and the swimming team ducking all opposition to cop the State Triple-A Swimming Championship. On the academic side, the debate team showed well in several tournaments, producing many members eligible for the Tournament of Champions, and going on to take second place as "Champions of the champions".

Outside of DLS, the debate on the Vietnam policy raged hot and heavy, and the rift between Russia and China grew wider than ever. The nation was plunged into deep mourning while the world watched three brave astronauts burned after the ultimate sacrifice for their country.

These events and a myriad of others far too numerous to reckon with, were all part of the 66-67 school year. It was long and exciting, short and dull, difficult and easy, but as was uttered on a much more solemn occasion, "Now it belongs to the ages."

Bro. Amedy Walsh and

Letters, tests, discussion, decisions.

Brother accepts volume from the Knights of Columbus.

A principal's job is that of a leader, to serve as a guiding light of scholarship and merit. We at De La Salle can truly say that no light shown brighter or led the way more clearly than that of Brother Amedy Walsh.

Clearly one of the foremost goals of his distinguished career has been that of scholarship and learning. The eighth grade was his brainchild, helping to uplift the intellectual level of the school by training some of the finest young minds in the city. It was he who encouraged students in the fields of drama and debate, helping youngsters to more clearly express their new-found knowledge.

It was his belief that parents should be involved in their sons' education, and thus he served as moderator of both the Boosters and the Mothers Clubs, helping parents to become more aware of their responsibility to both the school and their sons. Brother Amedy also took personal interest in the students themselves, helping in some difficult counseling problems.

Thus, in grateful recognition of his three years of service, we offer this wish, that the light he has given to us will continue to shine upon the paths of many others.

Mr. John Altobello

Mr. Altobello addresses the testimonial banquet in his honor.

One does not achieve 500 wins, a .777 record, without being considered one of the finest coaches in the nation today. In 6 years at St. Aloysius and 15 at De La Salle, Coach Johnny Altobello has compiled more wins in his first 20 years of coaching than most of his contemporaries compile in a lifetime. Honored by a testimonial dinner at the Jung Hotel as Coach of the Year, he indeed had a fabulously successful career to reminisce on.

Beginning this career as the first student ever to be awarded an athletic scholarship at Loyola, Coach Altobello took the helm of his first basketball team at St. Aloysius, a team that wound up with the state championship and a 20-1 record. Six years later Coach Altobello began his 15 year career at DLS. Since then he has served as basketball coach for 15 years, a baseball mentor for 15 years, and an all-American baseball coach for one year. An overall 1109-302-16 record has enshrined him in the memories of all in the world of sports, and in every heart at DLS.

Mrs. and Mr. Altobello at the banquet held in Mr. Altobello's honor as Coach of the Year.

Time out during the C.Y.O. tournament.

It is often said that the rudder is the most important part of the ship, responsible for the passengers that depend on it to steer them safely to their destination. It is the rudder that guides a great vessel through stormy seas and into calm ports. Standing at the helm of the student body, serving as our rudder in student-faculty relations, is the Student Council. Working under the moderation of Bro. Jeffrey, this year's council strived toward a goal of "Dedication and Service to the Student."

Stressing student participation in council activities, they founded the level representatives. To fit this new concept in student government they constructed a streamlined constitution to serve as a model for future councils. In order to keep the Cavaliers better informed they also initiated SERVICE, a student bulletin, which will be long continued as a dedication to their efforts.

As usual there was the social aspect of school life sponsored by the council, such as the Donkey Basketball game, the Homecoming Courts, and the various charity drives.

Thus, as De La Salle closed its hallowed halls of learning for the summer, Cavaliers could be truly grateful to the council, who had guided them through the stormy seas of the school year and into the calm port of summer vacation.

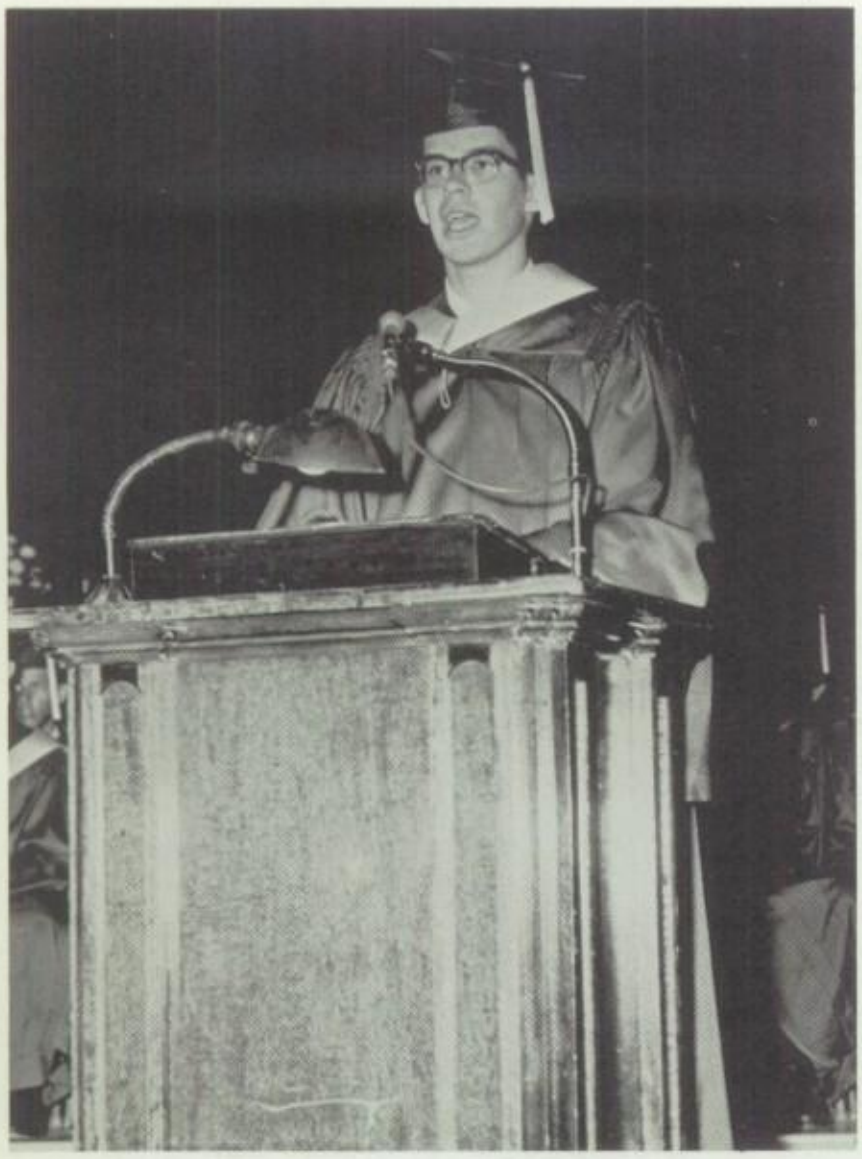
Seniors



Valedictorian

Edward C. Charbonnet

The Valedictorian of the Class of '67 has shown his academic abilities by receiving the Torch award for the fourth time and winning an honor diploma. Cacky has won the Southern Bell Telephone Science Award and has also been consistently a member of the State Rally team.

Extra-curricular activities have played a major role in Edward's team at De LaSalle. He was a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, and the Science Club as well as several other organizations.

As Vice-President of the Christian Students Mission Crusade and of the Gavel Club, Charbonnet has proven his abilities.

Edward plans to study physics at Notre Dame University on a scholarship. De La Salle is confident that he will continue to succeed there as he did at D.L.S.

Salutatorian

Robert M. Churella

This year's Salutatorian has proven himself an active member of the Class of '67. Robert was the recipient of the Cavalier award, an honor bestowed on the student who has attained the highest number of merit points in academic and co-curricular activities for the school year.

Bob has shown his qualities of leadership by being elected Vice-President of Mu Alpha Theta and the French Club, and treasurer of the Gavel Club. He has also participated actively in the Science Fair and the State Rally. He was a member of the National Honor Society, the Civics Club and the Debate Team.

In the fall, Bob will attend M.I.T. on a scholarship. He hopes to major in Astronautical Engineering. Our best wishes for continued success go along with him.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS
DE LA SALLE HIGH SCHOOL, 1967

Please accept my warm congratulations upon your successful completion of high school. I know the pride your families and friends feel on this occasion, and I share it.

You and I cherish the same American ideals -- ever larger freedoms, ever brighter opportunity for individual fulfillment for our citizens and for all mankind. We share the continuing task of perpetuating these ideals and translating them into reality. It is not my job alone, nor yours alone. It is ours together.

No one realizes more than your President that success will depend in large measure upon the priceless legacy you carry away from these halls: the knowledge you have won here; the stronger and more certain faith in yourselves that has been born here.

I want you to know that there is no finer contribution you can make for your country than to continue your adventure in education.

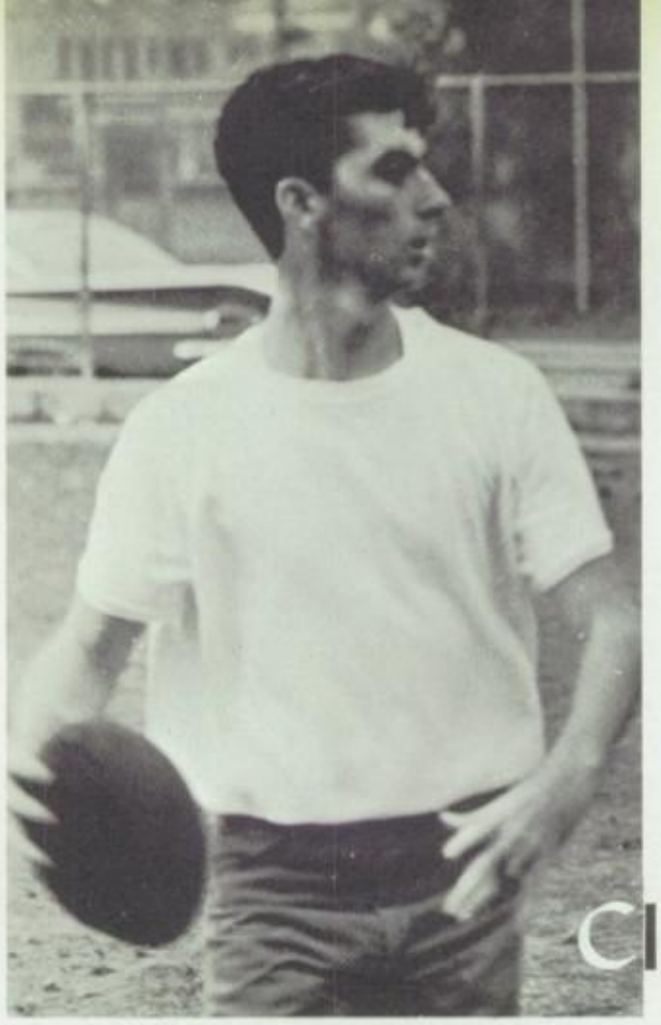
In this era of growing complexity and advancing technology, our country can remain strong and prosperous only when each young American acquires all the education he can possibly absorb.

You have my every best wish for a lifetime of success and achievement.

Sincerely,

Lyndon B. Johnson

Tied 6 to 6, twelve seconds left; "Hey, the referee is open."



Class of '67

He's wearing his P.F. Fliers.

Is his hand really glued to his forehead?

"Check your addition again, please."

I'm alright,
I'm alright.

Epilogue

An epilogue is usually written in the sense of an after thought—ideas hurriedly expressed in order to follow the dictates of tradition. This year, however, I hope to close the final pages of the Maroon Legend by expressing thoughts that were in my mind throughout the year.

Compiling a yearbook is a great responsibility, for a yearbook is, in effect, a record of the most important events that make up a school's history. Thus I was deeply impressed by the honor bestowed on me when I was made responsible for organizing and editing the 1967 MAROON LEGEND. This, of course, could never have been accomplished without the help of several individuals and organizations who gave of their time and talents unselfishly to help send the final copy to the publishers during the summer months. Without their aid it would have been a hopeless task. The summer arrived all too soon, with much of our work incomplete. The help we received during the summer showed that Cavalier spirit doesn't go into mothballs on May 29, but continues to shine the year round. I feel that it would now be appropriate to recognize and extend a sincere thanks to: Brother Freeman and the Photography Club, notably Frank Beatrous and Lee Dupont for the many long vacation hours spent in the darkroom; Mr. Paul Palermo, who provided advice and assistance to our photographers; and Miss Helen Warren, who allowed us to use the library during the summer months.

I would also like to thank Mike Tramonte, who assisted invaluably in the organization of photographs, to Mike Vega and Kyle Waters for contributing their time and typing talents, to Bob Markel for many excellent drawings, to Hank Turner, our activities editor, and to Jack Sartin who did a great job in providing most of the composition and written material that you see in this book.

Of course, the yearbook itself would have been an impossibility without the help of our moderator, Brother Justin. When the task seemed to be hopeless, he always provided the encouragement to keep pushing on. His signature was on every page, testifying that he had doublechecked everything that was finally submitted to the publisher.

As a final thought, I hope that you, the students, will enjoy and remember this record of your school. And, just as the school's history is the history of the students, this yearbook is the history of your activities and studies, and events in which you participated. I hope that the thoughts and ideas which are expressed here will adequately justify your efforts.
